EXPERIENCE

Mr. Luciana is a litigator with primary emphasis in construction and construction insurance litigation. His practice also includes experience in commercial litigation, environmental litigation, toxic tort litigation and environmental insurance coverage actions.

Construction litigation experience includes representation of owners, general contractors, construction managers and subcontractors in lawsuits, arbitration proceedings, lien proceedings, and administrative proceedings. Construction insurance coverage experience includes representation of owners, contractors and subcontractors in matters involving builders risk, professional liability, commercial general liability, ocean marine cargo, subguard and bridge and tunnel insurance policies. Related construction experience includes drafting, negotiating and reviewing construction contracts; negotiating with subcontractors and material suppliers for construction close-out; and filing of mechanics' liens in Pennsylvania and other states.

Environmental litigation experience includes private party and government "CERCLA" actions, underground and above-ground storage tank enforcement and cost recovery actions and defense of hazardous waste permit appeals, air and water enforcement actions and PCB and petroleum toxic tort suits.

Mr. Luciana has served as counsel on a number of Appellate Cases and has worked with Westinghouse Electric Corporation and Bettis Atomic Power Laboratory. He has authored a number of articles for Construction Law and Business and The Procurement Lawyer.
