John J. Zagari has been a practicing attorney for the past twenty-nine years. He has maintained an active practice in not only the Federal Courts, but also in the State Courts and various administrative agencies, including OSHA, DEP, and local zoning boards. Further, he was also active in the construction industry as a subcontractor and a general contractor on many projects in the city of Pittsburgh and throughout western Pennsylvania.

Mr. Zagari has always used his hands-on experience in construction to represent project owners, contractors and other industry entities not only in their disputes, but also in their pre-construction planning.

Throughout his career, he has continuously advocated alternative dispute methods, as evidenced in his recent Collaborative Law training.

Mr. Zagari has extensive experience in the resolution of OSHA-related matters, especially in those matters that relate to multiple contractors on the same project. His knowledge of all aspects of construction, from the early phases of excavation to the final details of a punch list, have made him a valuable asset to individuals in need of legal counseling in their construction dispute matters.

Mr. Zagari's hourly rate to serve as an arbitrator is $250.00 per hour.
